History and Purpose of the AG EXPO

In the early 1980's, a group of individuals recognized the important relationship of business and agriculture and came together to form the North Louisiana Agri-Business Council. In 1982, this cooperative effort resulted in the first AG EXPO, a showcase of agriculture in north Louisiana. What began as a small farmer oriented show has expanded to an annual event that highlights many agriculture related businesses and provides agricultural education for the thousands of general public who attend. AG EXPO is the only agricultural show of its kind serving the region.

AG EXPO gives agri-businesses an opportunity to market their products and services, distribute literature, support existing customers, develop valuable contacts and secure new leads. It's high exposure at a low cost.
